

I mostly performed quality control and double-checking on figures and calculations for this project. I caught the issue that we were not oversampling and thus having an incorrect model which was not using the features to predict.

I also coded the heat map and made some edits to ensure the code ran smoothly.

I feel as though everything was already done by the time I got around to it, and that better communication and in-person meetings would have helped me to accomplish more on the project.